~APRIL 2018 NewsBLAST~

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT DOREEN MONTELEONE

Happy Spring!

If you're like me, you're breathing a sigh of relief that the winter is over. Sure, I know we can still get some bad weather in April, like we did in late March, but the worst is over...I hope. Our gardens will be bursting back to life any day. So, now is the time that many of us are tackling Spring cleaning -- inside and out.

As you work your way through your closets, and you find bric-a-brac you no longer want, keep in mind that you can make a tax-deductible donation to Granny's Attic. Granny's Attic sales generate a significant portion of our annual profit and subsequent support for the Arboretum. Barbara Renner, Evelyn Bozler and their team of dedicated volunteers operate the Attic out of the old horse stalls at the Lower Carriage House. They can always use additional support to sell items on the weekends, sort through donations, price and stage them.

Please respond to one of the volunteer emails or touch base with them at a general meeting.

Are you piling up old gardening magazines and books you no longer look at? A few years ago, we started offering a public education service at our plant sale. We put gardening literature out for people to take and only ask for a donation. Just bring the books and magazines to one of our meetings and we'll put them out at the sale in June. It's an easy way for us to also provide an educational service to the public.

Every nice day, I'm outside doing the last bits of Spring cleanup and trying to figure out how to add more plants to my gardens. We're in full swing preparing for the Annual Plant Sale and a big perk of getting involved is choosing plants for the sale. Those of us doing the ordering are already drooling over the plants that will be coming in. If you attended the symposium, you would have heard that garden designers are promoting denser plantings of multiple layers. They are getting away from large expanses of mulch and instead increasing the number of plants. That's good news us and our plant sale! I am looking forward to stocking up on June 2-3. I hope you will too!

See you at the meeting!

Doreen
